

What Is Agar wood Oil Used for?

Agarwood oil is extracted from the tree bark and wood of the Oudh tree and it is famous for its scintillating earthy aroma. It is believed that one tincture of this oil is quite expensive, even more than gold! There are nearly 30 varieties of Oudh tree are found in South-East Asia, mainly in the countries like India, Vietnam, Sri Lanka, and Cambodia.

The tree bark doesn't produce oil directly, but it goes through a process of fermentation. When the tree bark is infested with mold, it produces a scented resin that is dark in color. It is known as 'Oudh' or 'Agarwood'. This resin is used to produce the most expensive and original Agarwood oil. It is often referred to as 'Liquid Gold'. Authentic Agarwood oil comes with several health benefits. Read on to know more-

It Moisturizes Your Skin

Agarwood oil contains certain components that can lock the moisture on your skin and keeps it hydrated. If your skin is losing lustre and getting dry, you can use Agarwood oil for bringing back the softness of your skin. You can apply it all over your skin to protect it from external pollution without making your skin oily.

Fights Microbial Infections

It contains high fatty acid content along with antibacterial, antimicrobial, antifungal, and anti-inflammatory properties. Using this oil on your skin will make it radiant and also reduce and heal skin issues. Agarwood oil is used to treat pimples, acne, etc. by controlling sebum production.

Heals the Pain of Arthritis

If you are troubled with the intense pain of arthritis and rheumatic arthritis, using this oil can alleviate your pain and helps you to relax. As the oil contains diuretic components, it flushes out toxins from your body through urination and heals your pain. Massage your joints with 2 drops of Agarwood oil and coconut oil or use it during hot or cold compress.

Supports Digestion

If you consume a little amount of Agarwood oil, it will help you to digest food easily and also prevent gas buildup in your stomach. You can also massage your abdomen with two drops of Agarwood oil and any carrier oil. It will relieve you from the pain and discomfort of the stomach.

So, here are some of the usages of this awesome essential oil. Always consult your doctor before using Agarwood oil to know if it can have any side effects on you.

Contact Us for the Authentic Product

Essential Oil Wizardry is the best dealer of all types of essential oil. If you want top-quality Agarwood oil, contact us now.